

'Plan for change' needs New Deal for Working People to succeed

GMB Union has responded to the Government's Plan for Change, announced today [Thursday]

Gary Smith, GMB General Secretary, said:

"Today's commitment to higher living standards across the board is very welcome.

Working people need to feel more money in their pockets and Government needs to deliver the changes this country so desperately needs.

That must mean delivering on employment rights and ending low pay by delivering the Government's plan to Make Work Pay in full."
