

GMB responds to steel strategy

GMB has responded to the Government's steel strategy, announced today [Thursday]

Charlotte Brumpton-Childs, GMB National Secretary, said:

“GMB had been calling for a steel strategy for a long time – so it’s good we now have some kind of plan.

“This administration has done more so UK steel than any Government for many, many years.

“But, as ever, the devil will be in the detail and key questions around ownership of Scunthorpe and the future technology mix will be key to our members and their livelihoods.”
