

Carers deserve a decent pension

GMB Union has responded to the announcement by the Health Secretary today there will be a new collective pension for care workers.

Natatie Grayson, GMB National Officer, said:

“This is fantastic – and long overdue – news for our dedicated care workers.

“These are the people who look after us, and our loved ones, in our hour of need – it’s only right they can look forward to a safe, secure retirement.

“This pension pot, along with the Fair Pay Agreements, show this a Government that is finally working to address the poverty pay that has blighted the care sector for years.”
