Representation

GMB Unions care members, campaign towards making a better care system. The sector workforce deserves recognition for providing a professionalised service and with that, better pay and terms and conditions in the workplace. GMB members aim to make care better. That starts with care workers using their voice in the workplace.

The GMB Union works to represent our members interests and when you work in care, it's good to know that you have a union to advocate for you, as hard as you advocate for your service users.

Advice & support

Sometimes we need help at work. Being a GMB member takes you through those times. If you have issues and grievances, are subject to disciplinary action, are at risk of allegations by service users or have experienced violence or abuse at work; GMB membership gives you access to representatives, local organisers, and legal advisors. No matter where you work or what job you do – your union is here to support you.
