Government must be brave, embrace the opportunities on offer and raise its hydrogen production targets

GMB, the energy union, has backed the 'Hydrogen State of the Nation' report, out today.

The paper, from Hydrogen Strategy Now says the UK could miss out on millions in investments and tens of thousands of jobs in the next ten years unless the Government raises its hydrogen production targets.

Gary Carter, GMB National Officer, said:

“A cleaner and greener future is what everyone wants and hydrogen is key to that.

“The burgeoning hydrogen industry will create tens of thousands of repurposed high skilled, well-paid jobs.

“The UK Government must be brave, embrace the opportunities on offer and raise its hydrogen production targets.”
