

'No wonder energy bills top concern for working parents'

29 Nov 2021

GMB, the energy union, has responded to research by Action for Children showing energy bills are one of the top concerns of working parents.

Andy Prendergast, GMB National Secretary, said:

"It's no wonder energy bills are a top concern of working parents – as they are for everyone who doesn't have unlimited cash.

"Leaving customers at the mercy of turbulent global energy markets is unfair and just doesn't work.

"The UK needs a cohesive strategy to protect consumers and our energy security as well as ensuring stability in the industry."
