Dear Mr O'Shea,

I have been contacted by constituents who work for Centrica and I am concerned about the tactics you are employing in your negotiations with their union, GMB.

British Gas workers have rightly been praised for the work they have done with the Trussell Trust to deliver food parcels to those in need during lockdown. I am aware that you have made clear your admiration for the efforts of the workforce.

I am therefore shocked at representations made to me that you have threatened to fire and rehire thousands of workers, including constituents of mine, if they do not accept your demands.

I am writing to ask that you change course in the negotiations, withdraw the notices of redundancy and re-engage with GMB and other unions on the basis of a shared recovery for the company.

I would be grateful for a response by return.

Yours sincerely,
